The Story of Life in

Matthew Fontaine Maury

High School
Norfolk, Virginia

It's been more fun dancing(?) with you. Even if I couldn't follow you, I tried. I hope we can always dance with each other in the future.

Foreword

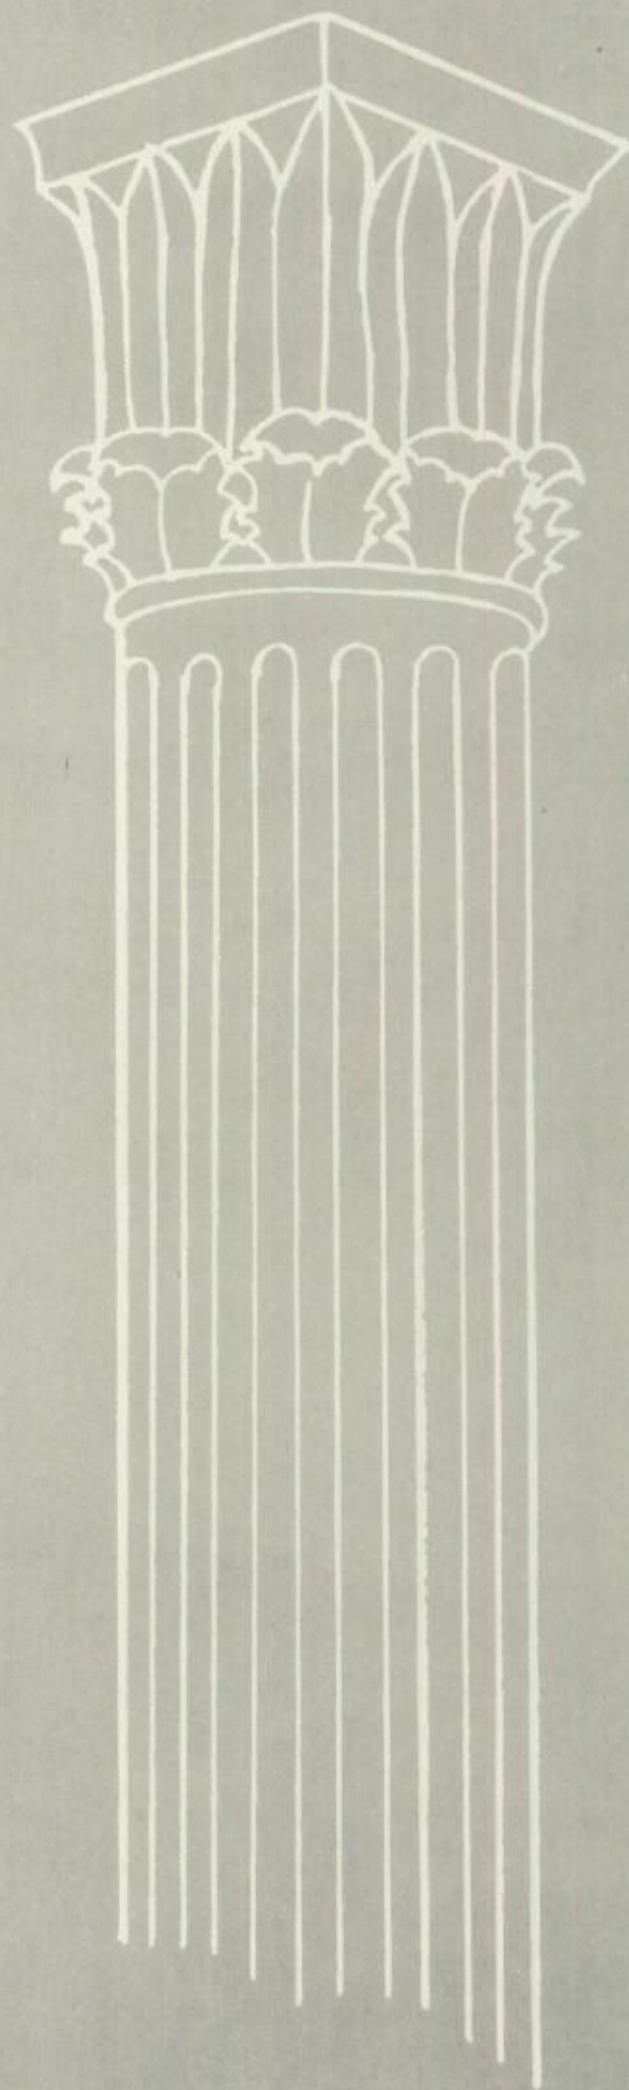

"The story of life in Matthew Fontaine Maury High School"—is stated on the title page. There are many definitions of a story; the one stated here is applicable to this book—a true narrative designed to interest and to amuse the reader.

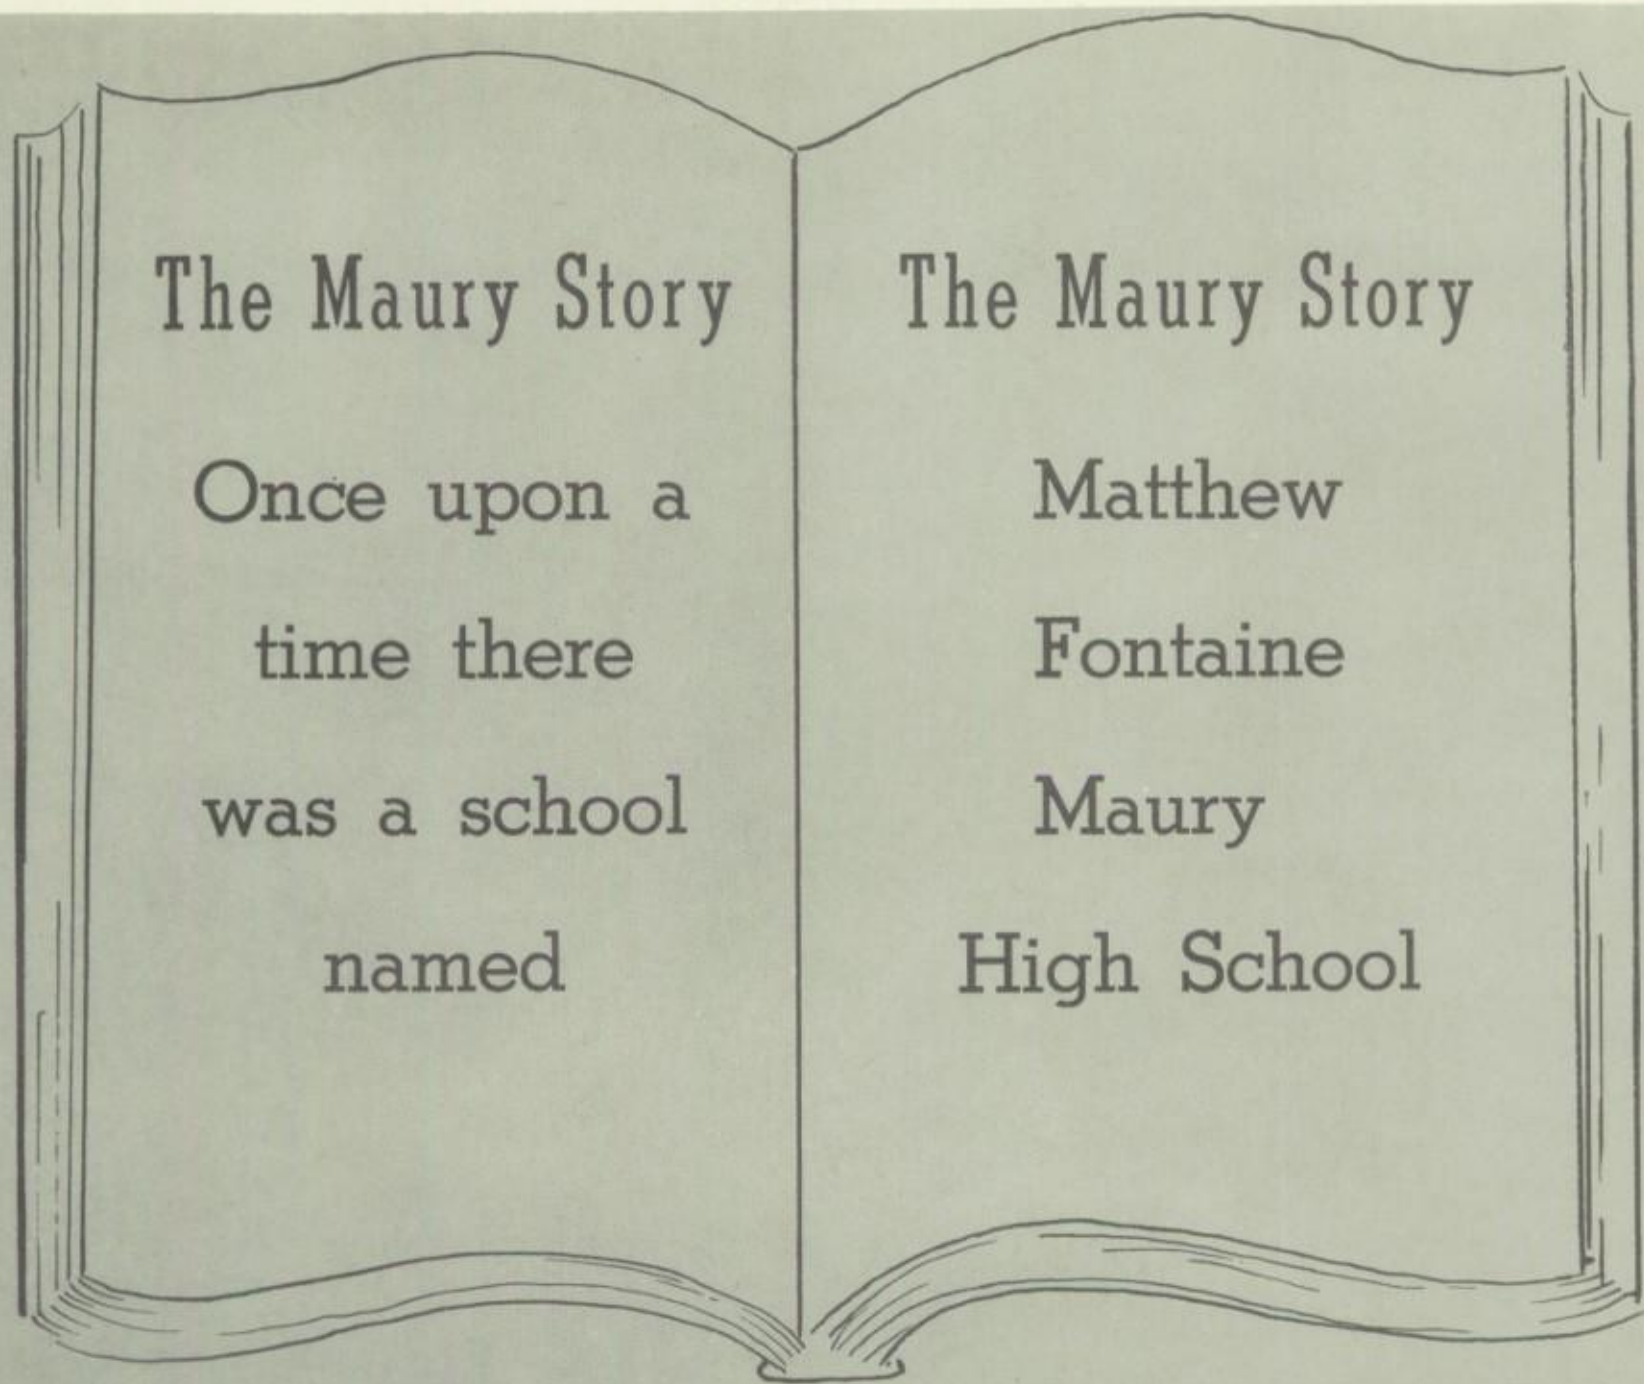

Just as there are many definitions of a story so there are many definitions of life. We choose to define it here as a process both of growth and of revelation. It is a pattern woven of people and of events. Intricate threads form its warp and its woof, threads that have significance for all those involved in weaving the pattern.

The Maury story deals with these threads, threads of academic achievement, threads of personal growth and development, threads of human relationships. It is filled with contrasts: work, play, joy, sorrow. Here is portrayed the straight and narrow path of the student bent on achievement; here, too, is portrayed the somewhat irregular course of those who might well be labelled "Artful Dodgers".

Here faculty and students, classrooms and playgrounds, curricula and extra-curricular activities are blended together to form a balanced whole, a picture of a normal school life.

All stories say much; all stories imply even more. So it is with the Maury story. People, events, tangibles, and intangibles—all the things that make life both a wonderful and a challenging experience for youth and maturity working together. These constitute our tale.

Dedication

To our principal, our assistant principals, our faculty, and the members of our office personnel, we, the staff of the 1956 Commodore, dedicate our yearbook in sincere gratitude for all that you have done for the students of Maury.

It is you who have provided for us the best of educational opportunities; it is you whose tireless efforts in our behalf have made tasks and goals, seemingly impossible, possible. You have never been too busy to listen attentively to our problems, even to our complaints. You have patiently solved the one and have removed, if possible, the cause of the other.

You have shared our joys; you have been sympathetic in our hours of sorrow. You have participated in our various activities and have shown us how to use them to advantage.

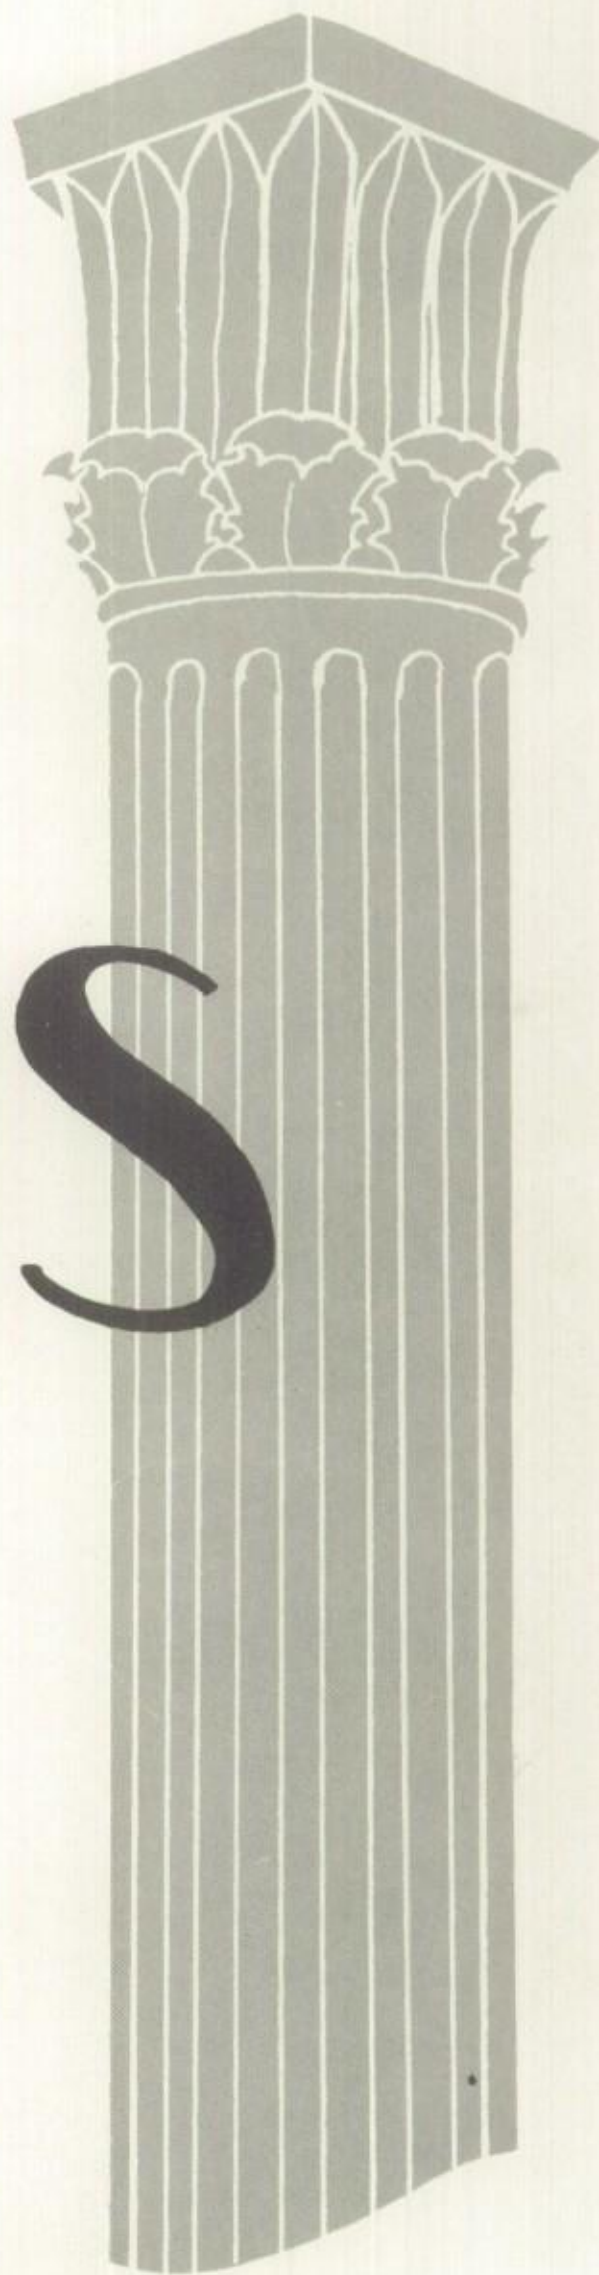

Daily you have sought for causes of unacceptable behavior; daily you have sought for causes of failure rather than for cures effected by punitive measures. Daily you have shown your love of and genuine interest in the youth entrusted to your care. Yours has been a service of dedication.

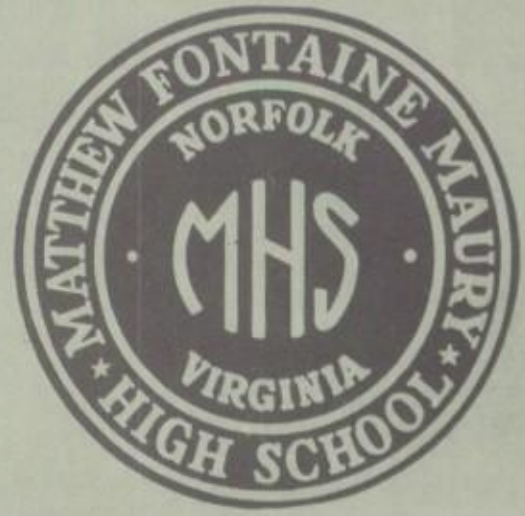

You have, by precept and by example taught us how to live with a degree of success and of happiness both for ourselves and for our fellowmen.

Without each of you the Maury Story would have been impossible.

Chapter I

Within These Walls

Maury Fair Maury

Mold Thou Our Destiny

The Maury story began within the walls of the Commodore staff room. Here during summer vacation the idea was conceived and was born; here it grew and developed. Here the staff, undaunted by soaring temperatures and tempers that often reached the boiling point, collected data, drew up campaign plans, exchanged ideas, accepted and rejected proposed schemes, sketched layouts. Here it was decided to let Maury speak for itself through the media of the printed word and the picture. No phase of school life was to be overlooked; academic programs would share equally with activities. Both would have their say.

So it is fitting that chapter one should be a miniature of the entire story. Teachers and students, classrooms and activities, are faithfully portrayed. Here there is shown a high school geared to modern living.

Here are those academic procedures that make Maury similar to all other high schools; here, too, are those factors which set Maury apart and distinguish it from all other schools.

Within these walls—there is a delightful story.

Maury Traditions

Guide Us Aright
in all we do

Teachers, students, lessons; these are school tangibles. Underlying and strongly girding these are the school traditions, the intangibles of school life. These traditions are passed on through the years from teacher to student, from parent to child. They are the glories of the past; they are the challenge of the future; they are fond memories when school days are ended.

There is the tradition of loyalty, loyalty to a school whose students believe it to be the best of schools. And there is the tradition of behavior, behavior befitting those who would be worthy to be called Commodores. There are the traditional meeting places, the off-campus clubs; there are traditional programs; traditional games, traditional parties. There are even traditional people, people no longer present, but whose example and influence are traditional.

Each year sees the old traditions carried on; each year sees a new practice begun which in time will become a part of the Maury tradition. Each year sees a class graduating, leaving behind that which they have woven into the traditional Maury pattern, and carrying with them that which the school has woven into their lives.

WATCH THE BIRDIE.

A ONE MAN EXHIBIT.

People come and people go; some are soon forgotten; some are long remembered. To the latter group belongs Mr. Nolley, for surely no one who has ever known him could possibly forget him. He is the embodiment of Maury's spirit; an ardent, enthusiastic supporter of all athletic events. No pep rally, no game, whatever the time or however severe the weather condition, finds him absent; he is always out in front; a one-man cheering team. An honorary member of every school team, his presence on the bench is as familiar as that of the coaches and teams. His enthusiasm is contagious; his smile is infectious; his influence is far-reaching.

Familiar face, beloved teacher, counselor and friend—Cap'n Henry Nolley!

As familiar as textbooks, report cards and homework, is the figure of Mr. Harris, genius of the photographic lens. Clad in a long khaki duster, a black hat far back on his head, a camera in his hand, he is often to be seen recording on film interesting people and events.

Or he may be found perched on a ladder, presumably ready to do some minor repair work; actually watching a chance to catch a subject unawares. It is not unusual to find him surrounded by clamoring groups of students begging to be snapped. No plea goes unanswered.

His genius is evidenced in the hall leading to his office, a hall covered with photographs. Here is a pictorial record of Maury's past and her present, for here hang hundreds of pictures of those who have labored within Maury's walls. Faces of students, of teachers, of personnel; pictures of activities, pictures of every phase of school life; all are here.

And in the hearts of all Commodores is affectionately pictured the familiar face of the photographer himself—Mr. George Harris.

College Day

THE GUIDING SPIRIT —
Mrs. Dorothy Bryan, College
Counselor.

November 10, 1955, began as any other normal school day begins; it ended with excited students rushing home to confer with parents and to mail college application blanks. November 10, 1955 was College Day.

On this day, representatives from forty-two colleges came to Maury. They came armed with college data, supplemental films, and slides; they came with the avowed purpose of arousing students' interest in a specific college and of encouraging student enrollment in that college.

Conferences were held in specifically designated rooms, where students might go to learn about the colleges of their choice. These conferences, each an hour long, made it possible for students to explore the possible virtues and limitations of two colleges; they made possible the making of decisions which had to be based upon entrance requirements, scholastic ability, and financial status.

In addition to conferences scheduled for the college bound student, a program was held in the auditorium for those students planning to go directly from high school into a chosen vocation. Here, two able speakers pointed out the necessity both of choosing a vocation and of adjusting oneself to his vocation. This program was arranged by the Key Club.

College Day ended with a tea for all visitors. Behind its smoothly running machinery lay the careful planning of Mrs. Dorothy Bryan, college counselor, the F.T.A. Club, and the Key Club.

COLLEGE DAY USHERS—Indulge in friendly competition to greet the first college representative.

OH, TO BE A GIRL!—James McCarthy sighs wistfully as Mrs. Karl Ogden extols the virtues of Randolph Macon Woman's College.

THAT'S FOR ME!—Arthur Wetter is deeply impressed by naval film shown by Lt. Commander Weimer.

SO THIS IS LONGWOOD!—Nancy Wallace and Joanna Gilliam are delighted with Mrs. Meade Shackleford's description.

DEEP CONCENTRATION—Mr. Charles Bernard of the University of North Carolina thrills an interested audience.

PRE-PARTY PREPARATION—Mrs. Julia Webb and Miss Ethel Willey prepare to entertain College Day guests.

UH-UH, NO FAIR SHAKING!

The Christmas Season is the happiest time of the year for the students of Maury. The halls ring with cheerful greetings, and the air vibrates with the sounds of Christmas music issuing forth from Room 6.

The generous gifts of the Wise Men are exemplified by the many baskets of food which go from Maury into needy homes all over the city.

The season is one of gaiety in Maury, but underlying the gaiety one finds a true spirit of loving and giving which becomes especially evident at this time.

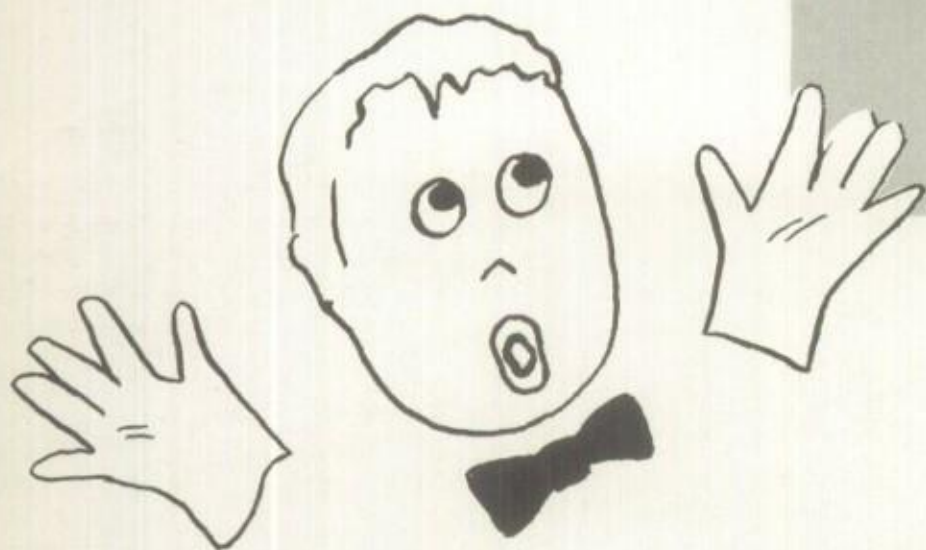

There is a general decrease in attendance as many students earn money in the crowded stores with which to buy gifts. As Christmas draws closer, spirits soar and grades fall. Everyone's attention is concentrated on parties, dances, and all the festivities going on in school, but no one seems to remember that there are still tests to pass and themes to write. Fortunately, teachers are caught up in the spirit of the holiday and there are not too many complaints about the decline in studying.

Various organizations hold parties both during and after school making it not unusual to see some boy or girl going from class to class munching a candy cane.

Maury's fine chorus is at its best when singing the lovely carols. Their program of Christmas music is one of the most inspiring and enjoyable highlights of the year. While listening to these hymns sung in praise and love of the Lord, the true meaning of the holiday is realized, and for a moment we stop and think about this celebration of the most important birth the world has ever known.

All in all the Christmas Season is a wonderful time for Maury. In the general confusion, thoughts of turkeys, and exchanging of gifts there is a warm glow of happiness which lights the school brighter than do the lights on the Christmas trees found in the auditorium.

"Save me a booth!" These are familiar words to Mauryites who meet their friends in Renn's, a luncheonette across the street from Maury. Here at almost any time of the day on Monday through Friday you can see someone you know. Students stream through the doors before school hours, at lunch time, after school hours, and sometimes during school hours. Since 1946 Renn's has been a part of school life that Mauryites will remember when $2x - y = 6$ is long forgotten. Mrs. Renn and her assistant, Mrs. Davis, are known to all for their willingness to lend a sympathetic ear to the student's problems or to rejoice with them in their achievements. Their school spirit is overwhelming and all the students rush to them with the latest news. They know almost all of the high school crowd by name and can be counted on when necessary.

At lunch time the blare of the juke box mixes with the excited chatter of Mauryites who fill the booths and stools and stand when all the seats are occupied. The juke box always has the latest songs on it and Mrs. Renn and Mrs. Davis can stand all the noise that the students can make.

Report cards, grades, latest flames, and party news are the topics most discussed in the booths at Renn's. It is a place where all the latest news is aired and where all the crowd gathers to learn the latest "scoop".

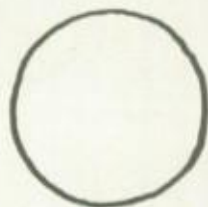

Students who are reluctant to forsake all of their school acquaintances after graduation are frequently seen in Renn's and whenever college students come back to visit Maury, when they are home on vacation, Renn's is the first place they go.

Maury is unique, in that it does have luncheonettes across the street where students are permitted to go. No other school in this vicinity has them and students are required to stay on the school grounds for the entirety of the school day.

Sandwiches, soft drinks, hamburgers, and hot dogs are specialties of Renn's, as are the french fries prepared by Maggie, who has been working in Renn's since 1946 when they opened.

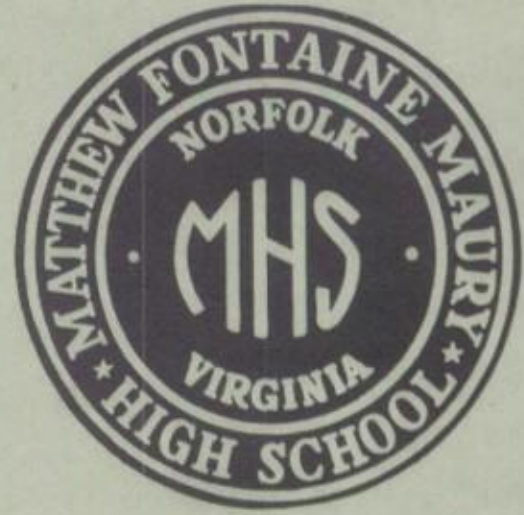

The school owes a note of thanks to Mrs. Renn and Mrs. Davis, too, since it is they who discourage many pupils from truancy and who openly frown on the few who are truant. Many times they have told Mauryites that they weren't welcome during class hours, although their way of doing so has not insulted the pupil but has made him aware that this is being done for his own good.

Yes, Renn's has been and is a tradition at Maury. Thousands of Mauryites have walked through those doors; thousands more will in years to come. The class of 1956, now to become part of the tradition, passes its place in Renn's to those who come after.

Then said a teacher, Speak to us of Teaching.

And he said:

No man can reveal to you aught but that which already lies half asleep in the dawning of your knowledge.

The teacher who walks in the shadow of the temple, among his followers, gives not of his wisdom but rather of his faith and his lovingness.

If he is indeed wise he does not bid you enter the house of his wisdom, but rather leads you to the threshold of your own mind.

The astronomer may speak to you of his understanding of space, but he cannot give you his understanding.

The musician may sing to you of the rhythm which is in all space, but he cannot give you the ear which arrests the rhythm nor the voice that echoes it.

And he who is versed in the science of numbers can tell of the regions of weight and measure, but he cannot conduct you thither.

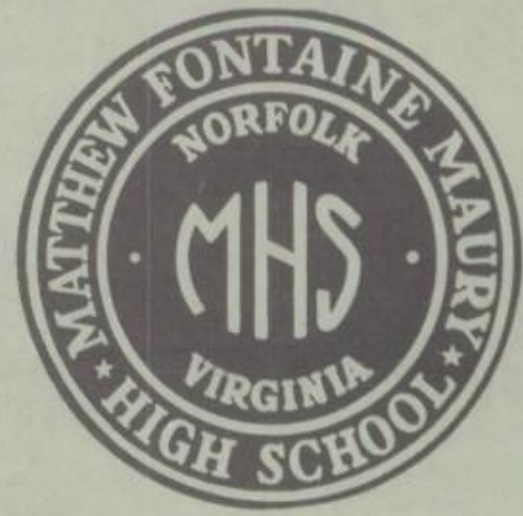

For the vision of one man lends not its wings to another man.

And even as each one of you stands alone in God's knowledge, so must each of you be alone in his knowledge of God and in his understanding of the earth.

Sophomore Class History

Five hundred and forty strong, we entered Maury High School on September 6, 1955, forming the Sophomore class. Now that we have settled down into the daily routine of high school life we look back and remember our feelings when we first walked through Maury's open doors. Many of us were frightened; many of us were filled with eager curiosity. Many of us were quite bewildered by the newness of everything; many of us thought wistfully of the junior high schools left behind.

Though we came from many different schools, we are now a closely knit group, working harmoniously together. Since we have not been organized very long as a group, our list of accomplishments is brief. We have not been able to plan and to carry out many projects, but the ones which we have executed we point to with pride. Their success was largely due to the hard work and the patience of our class sponsor, Miss Gladys Ellis. Under her capable guidance we predict more and better sophomore projects.

Our chief project has been that of raising funds with which to defray class expenses. We are proud of the healthy condition of our treasury! Money has poured into our central fund, money collected by hardworking class representatives.

Another project was successfully carried out, when on October 19, our class presented their talent to the combined 8th, 9th, and 10th grade students in an assembly program. This was so well-received that we were encouraged to take part in other extracurricular activities.

Our record grows daily; we hope that it will be increasingly good.

With many fond memories of the past still in our minds, we, the class of '57 now survey the road before us, the road which will lead to graduation.

Many changes have taken place since we entered Maury. We have made new friends, joined new clubs, entered into new activities, and have even adopted new fads. We have benefited by all of them.

Remembering that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, we gave a dance "The Bunny Hop" on March 25, 1954. This was given in the auxiliary gym where bunnies of all ages from the postgraduate level to the lowly eighth graders enjoyed dancing to the music of Johnny Steger's orchestra.

As juniors we have tried to be everything the name implies, each individual member of our class helping to make this, his Junior year, the best year of his school career. We have sought by word and by deed to make our class one to which Maury may now and in years to come point with pride.

Our class history would not be complete without tribute being paid to our sponsor, Miss Norma Doran, who has worked tirelessly in our behalf. Nor would it be complete without a pledge on our part to carry into our senior year the best that we have to offer.

*Best of luck to you all!

Cheerleaders

The Cheerleaders point with pride to a year filled with achievement. Plans begun two years ago for the careful screening of applicants culminated in a group of students truly representative of Maury.

New rules governing participation and responsibility showed their efficacy in a renewed school spirit, and in the recognition of the Cheerleaders as a vital part of school life rather than an accessory to sports.

Seven games away from home provided the opportunity for careful planning and adjustment to strange places and varying conditions. They made possible a new fellowship through the chartering of buses for student transportation. The most memorable of these games was that of Roanoke which, though it ended in defeat, clearly revealed the spirit and character of both the team and the cheerleaders.

The familiar tradition of Victory dances after each home game was followed, but a new pattern of social responsibility was set in the adoption of a needy family as a Thanksgiving project.

Christmas saw the Cheerleaders eagerly planning for a party; spring will find it sadly bringing to a close, with a banquet, a happy, successful year.

A memorable year made possible through the dedicated leadership of Cheerleader sponsor, Mrs. India Friend, the untiring efforts of Captain Rachel Greene, and Co-Captain Mary Virginia Perry, and a group of girls united in the effort to make themselves a strong factor in the total school program.

The 1955 football season, opening under the leadership of a new coach, Vic Marler, proved to be, if not the most successful, one of the most surprising in Maury history. The material which reported for pre-season practice late in August was not, as far as size and weight go, an especially outstanding group. However, what was lacking on the outside soon proved to be more than made up for by spirit and determination. Time after time the underdog Commodores fought uphill battles against bigger and faster elevens to "pull it out of the fire." The final record, although not one to show off, is better at close inspection than at an overall view. The end of the season saw the Mauryites posting wins over three teams while losing to five and tying two. The wins were in two cases, upsets over two of the most powerful teams in the Eastern district, Wilson and Hampton. The third win and the only one in which the Commodores were favored, was over Newport News. Two ties, one with South Norfolk and one with Craddock helped add to this most erratic season. The five losses were at the hands of Jefferson Senior of Roanoke, Fork Union Military Academy, Norview, Warwick and Granby.

Due to the comparative light weight of the Maury line a formidable running game was almost impossible; therefore, since the Commodores also possessed some tall, glue-fingered ends and some accurate passers in Gene Consolvo, Jimmy Jordan, and Hal White, the Mauryites became masters of the passing game. Time and again when the Commodore offense bogged down it was passing which saved the day. When deprived of their passing ability, the hour was indeed dark for the Mauryites, as is shown by the Norview game where the Pilot's secondary very successfully checked the Maury aerial game and except for a few instances completely paralyzed the Commodore offense.

Perhaps the greatest single attribute of the Commodores was their ability to keep going no matter how discouraging the odds. Going into the last game, the Commodores had been favored only once by experts in the sporting world, but through grim determination managed to do somewhat better than expected.

JEFFERSON SENIOR

The Commodores opening game, played on the road, was a disappointing loss to Jefferson Senior at Roanoke. The Magicians, scoring six times, marched on to a 41-8 victory. Maury's only touchdown occurred when sophomore quarterback Billy Owens ran it over from the six. The Maury offense took the credit for the night with the defense being the drawback. Passing by Jimmy Jordan and groundwork by Ray Clyburn was the mainstay for the Commodores. Tommy Delk, also, was outstanding for Maury. The tall, senior lineman broke through again and again to slow down the big Magician backfield. However, Don Whitley, the league-leading halfback went over four times while a teammate, Chuck Stevens, intercepted a pair of Maury passes and consistently brought down Commodore runners to provide the power of the Roanoke attack to lead on to the victory. Maury's only other score came when the alert defense caught the Magicians behind the goal for an extra two points.

MAKE WAY—Here comes Maury's Ray Clyburn.

FORK UNION

The second game, an inter-conference tilt with Fork Union, saw the Commodores doing a little better. The Commodores held the heavier cadets on even terms throughout the first period. However, early in the second quarter the Cadets received the ball on the 40 after the Commodores were forced to kick from the end zone. From there the Cadets marched over in a series of ground eating plays topped off by a fumble resulting in the score. Upon receiving the kickoff Maury made its deepest penetration of the night. By alternating quarterbacks, Jimmy Jordan and Billy Owens, the Commodores were able to march to their 40 in four plays. The next four plays were all passes and carried the Commodores to the Cadet 20. Ray Clyburn plunged over tackle to the nine where a fumble recovery by Fork Union halted the rally. In the final quarter Fork Union scored twice more to make it 20-0. Some fine defensive work by linemen Tommy Delk and Tommy Zwemer and linebacker Bobby Davis helped hold the Cadet scoring to a minimum.

SOUTH NORFOLK

In a thrill-a-minute tie with a favored South Norfolk eleven, the sporting world saw an underdog Maury team almost score a major upset. The injury-riddled Tigers drew first blood when a Commodore punt was broken up. The ensuing play, a nine yard pass to Phil Davis, provided the score. The Commodores bounced right back however, by topping off a 68 yard drive with a 51 yard pass that took Clyburn into the end zone. Jimmy Jordon added the extra point to put the Commodores ahead 7-6. The second quarter followed the pattern as again Smith made the initial score only to see it topped again by the Commodores on another pass to Henry Morgan. The second half saw Maury reverse the pattern by scoring first on an interception by White who ran the next play 57 yards to the score. This time Smith did the "tieing" by blocking a White punt and then sending Billy Jones around end for the score on the following play.

TIME OUT—Strategic action along the sidelines

NEWPORT NEWS

Winning over a peninsula team for the second time in as many weeks, the Commodores downed the Typhoons from Newport News by a score of 25-19. Consolvo's passing was again the difference. The diminutive Commodore threw twice to end Bill Wagner for the first and third scores, the first being set up by a fumble recovery by Delk. The second score came in the second quarter when Portius Deming, playing as a replacement for injured Ray Clyburn, crossed into the end zone standing up on an end run. Consolvo scored the final tally on a plunge to win it with only 30 seconds on the clock. An outstanding performer was Henry Morgan who set up the final T. D. by catching a Consolvo pass deep in Newport News territory. The power of the Typhoon attack was headed by Slade Dunn who stood out in defeat.

Maury 25 . . Newport News 19

Maury 13 Hampton 20

HAMPTON

The fourth game of the season, played on the Hampton Peninsula, was the year's biggest upset. Maury, with two losses and a tie, caught the unbeaten Crabbers napping, and before the game was six minutes old the Commodores had passes their way to two touchdowns. The first was a screen pass to Ray Clyburn who raced fifty-three yards for the score. The second occurred when, after recovering a Hampton fumble, Consolvo passed again to Clyburn, who went over from the 29 standing up. The Crabbers were next to score after battling sixty-four yards before sending tailback Paul Evans over from the 1. After receiving the kickoff on the 30, the Commodores proceeded to march downfield again on a series of hard-hitting running plays to show the way to the third and final Commodore T. D. in which Clyburn again played the lead role. Harry Griffin added the second conversion for the Commodores to complete their twenty points. Hampton scored the final marker in the third period to end it 20-13.

BALL !! BALL !! WHO'S GOT THE BALL?

NORVIEW

Unable to successfully use their own passing game, and further hampered by inability to stop the Pilot attack, the Commodores lost a hard fought battle to a heavier Norview eleven. The Commodores held the unbeaten Pilots to a minimum, except for the second quarter when the Maury defense broke down and allowed the Pilots to score on drives of 41, 59, and 46 yards. Despite this the Commodores tightened up in the later half to hold the Pilots to only three yards on the ground. The third quarter was the Commodore's best. After a thirty-one yard advance which saw Clyburn scoring from the two after Jordan connected on a pair of short passes, and a short run by Davis. The Commodores had another chance to score in the fourth quarter when Norman Moore intercepted a Norview pass on the 44; however they failed to capitalize on it and Norview took over. The final Norview score came on a pass from Clyde Barnett to Johnny Watkins who nosed over untouched.

Maury 7 Norview 27

Maury 0 Craddock 0

CRADDOCK

Bone-crushing defensive play but slow offense showed the way for a scoreless deadlock with the Craddock Admirals. The first half saw most of the play in Admiral territory with the Commodores controlling the ball most of the time. The final half was just the opposite with most of the play around the Maury 40 yard line. Although there were no scores, the final quarter saw Craddock produce a drive which was halted on the 15 when time ran out. The force of the Maury defensive attack was led by guards Joe Anderson and Norman Moore, ends Bill Wagner and Henry Morgan, and linebacker Bobby Davis who continuously threw the Craddock offense for losses. The Craddock change was led by end Mac Kincaid who received a pair of passes near the end of the encounter to throw a scare into the Commodores.

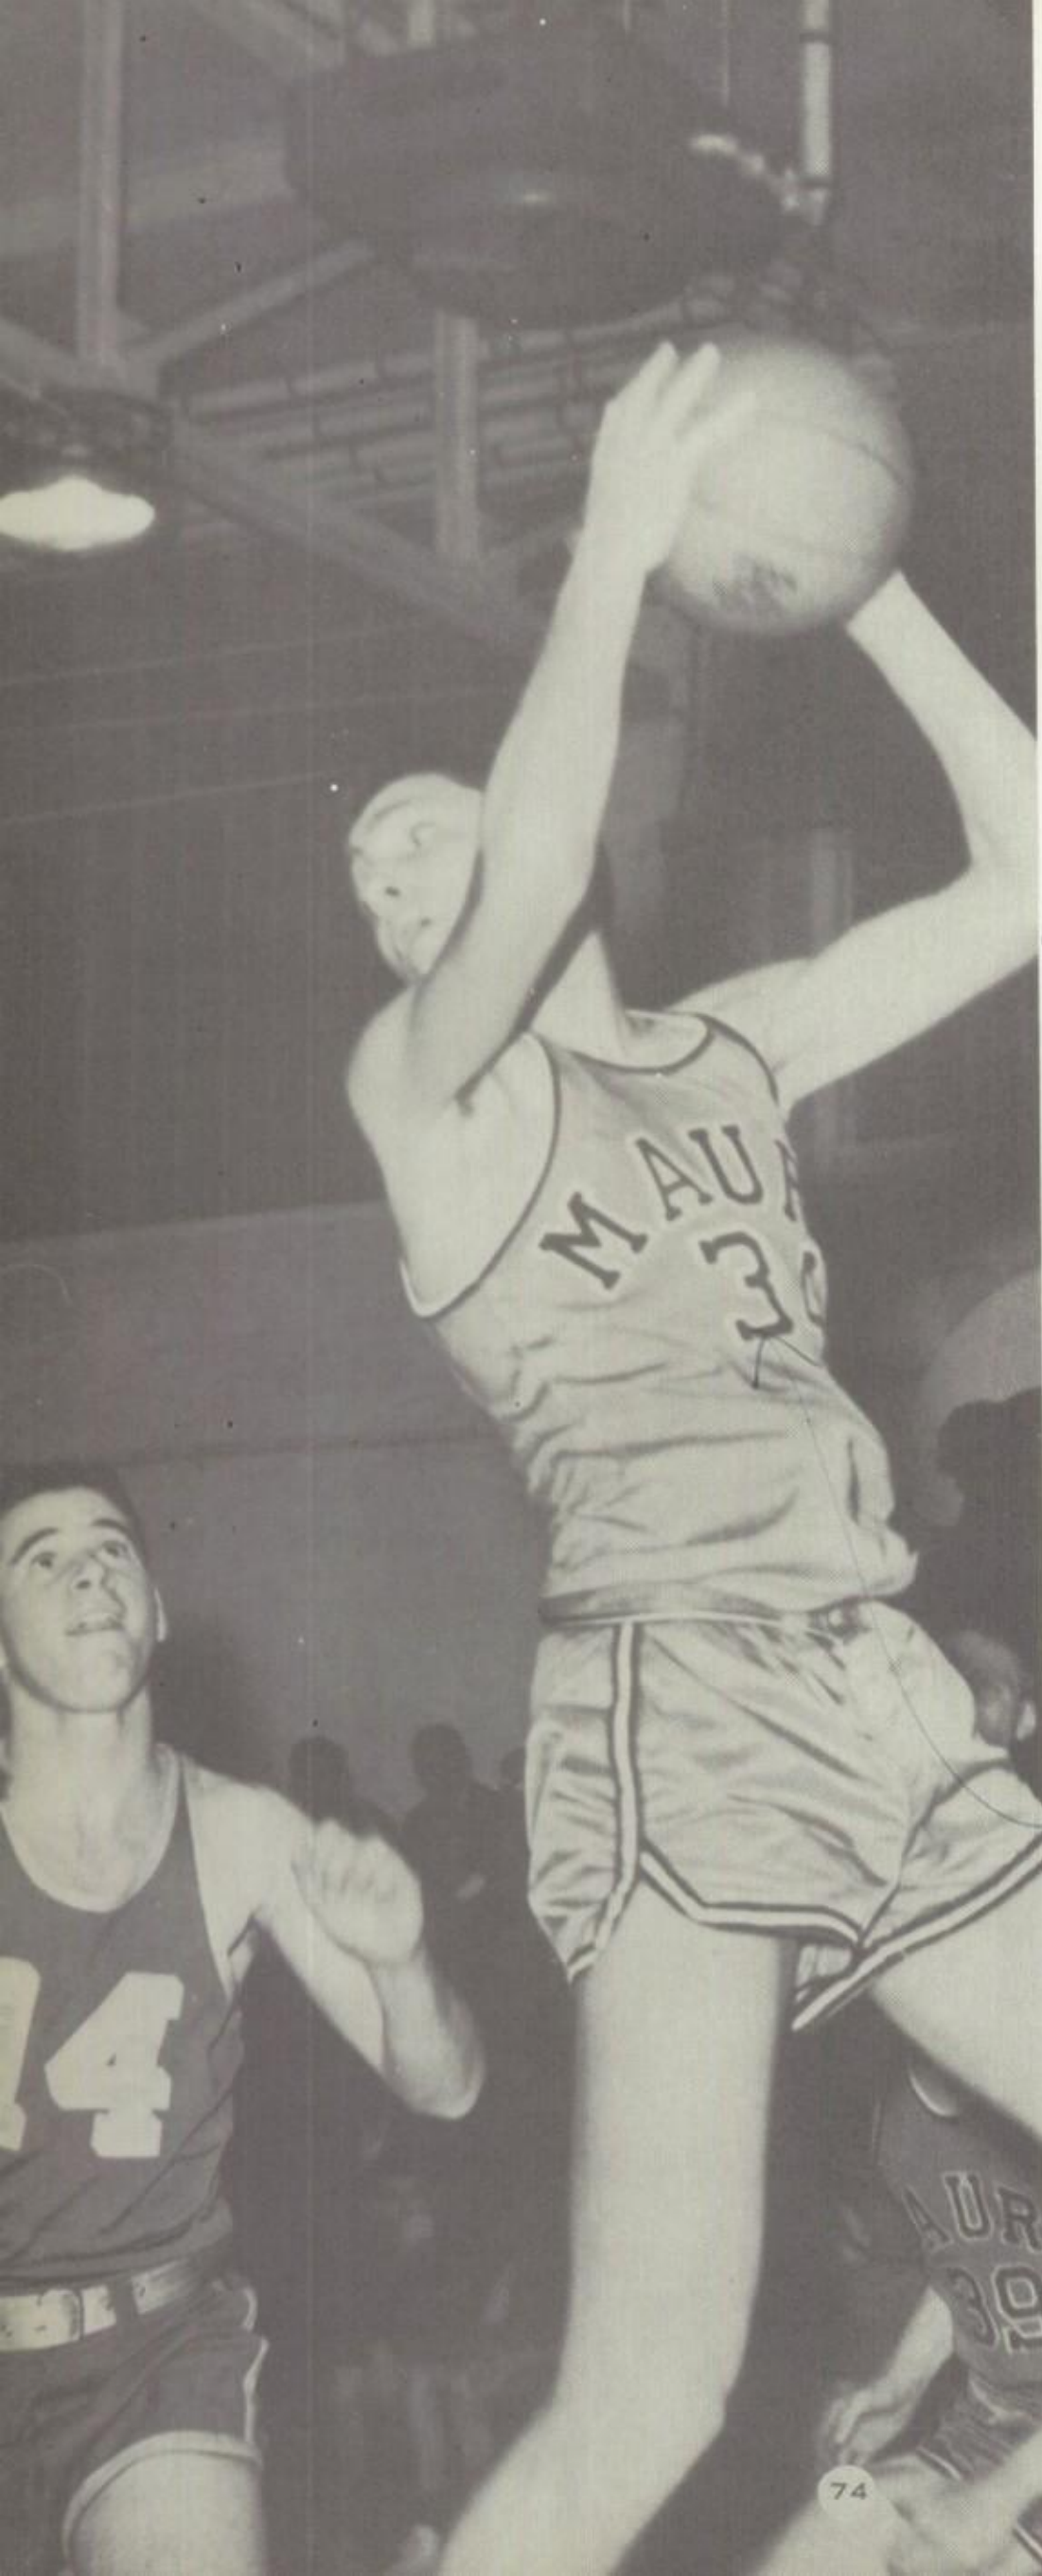

SNEAK ATTACK! BOBBY DAVIS SLIPS BY THE WILSON DEFENDERS TO SCORE.

WILSON

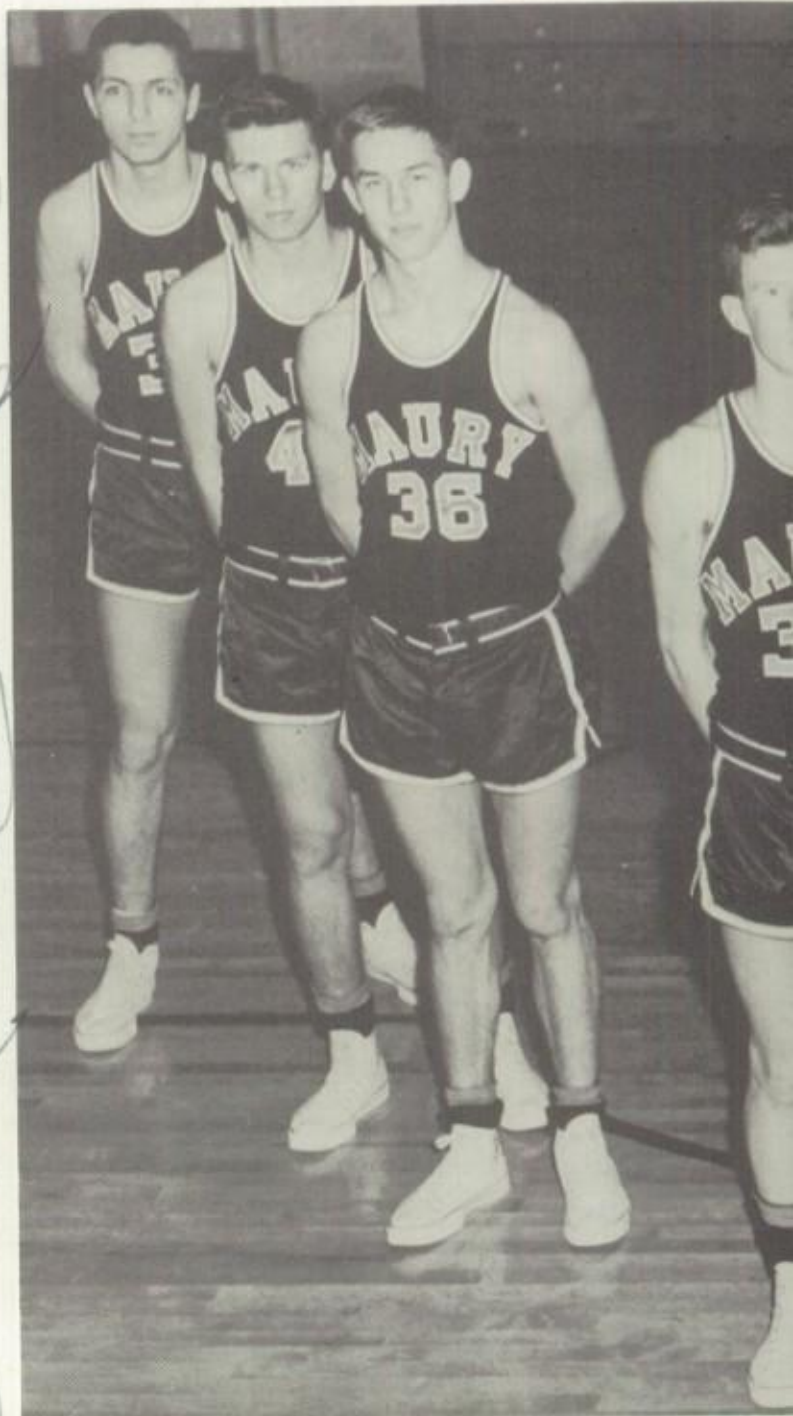

Keeping awake paid off for the Commodores in a win over a state champion Wilson team. End, Bill Wagner, picked up two Wilson punts and ran them over for 25 and 22 yards respectively; the first occurring after only a few minutes of play; the last, in the third period. The second period, also, was full of excitement. After the Wilson offense failed to move the ball, Wilson fullback, Jimmy Williams, stepped back to punt. Tommy Delk, however, rushed through, and the rushed kicker dropped the ball on the 15. Three plays later Bobby Davis crashed over tackle from the four to score. Wilson's first score came on the play following the ensuing kickoff. Bobby Sher, the speedy President halfback, started it; but was injured on his first run, an 11 yard sprint around end. Several plays later the Presidents scored on a pass play. Wilson's only other score came in the fourth period.

BASKETBALL 1955 - 56

Paced by a pair of sure-shot set artists and having the problem of not enough height solved for the first time in several years, the nevertheless inexperienced Commodores showed the way throughout a hot-cold 1955-56 season. Fielding a team, which, for the most part, was over the coveted six-foot average was not the main problem for the Commodores this past 55-56 season. With ex-footballers, Jimmy Jordan and Hal White both over the 72" mark and further braced by veteran rebounder, Al Saunders, the Commodores were able to provide the fans with adequate thrills and excitement. Even though height was not lacking it still took none of the limelight from good outside work and set shooting. Kirkie Harrison, Maury's diminutive (5' 11") guard, and Tommy Howlett, another guard (5' 10"), whose eligibility ran out at mid-term, dumped in point after point from the outside to lead the way to victorious or near-victorious finishes. The reserve also had its standouts in Henry Morgan (6' 3"), Bobby Davis (5' 9") and Gene Lane (5' 11") who often hit in the double figures to make up the difference between loss or victory.

VERNON BAKER—COACH

Wrestling

The Maury Wrestlers, coached by Vernon Baker, and fielding an almost all new team emerged victorious in 4 out of 12 matches for the 1955-56 season. The first four matches were losses to Princess Anne, Norview, Oscar Smith, and state champion, Granby. Virginia Beach, the next hurdle on the agenda however strong, was no match for the wire hungry grapplers, triumphal by a score of 34-16. Upon receiving their first taste of victory, the Commodores rose to win two out of the next three, coming out second best only to a powerful second in the state Warwick team. The pair of wins here were over Greenville, North Carolina; and Wilson, the latter of which was decided by the last match which saw Bobby Addison come through to win by fall, in 5.48 of the third period. The last four matches went 1-3 with the single win over Douglas Freeman of Richmond.

Kingpin of the Commodores was 4 year veteran Poe Deming, who far and away led his teammates by his superior skill and technique. His season record was eleven wins against only one loss which went to Granby by a small, one-point margin. Next in line for honors were Eddie Warrington, Norman Moore, Vernon Parsons, Fred Glanville, and Tommy Warren who also did some outstanding mat work. Lack of experience was the evident problem from the start, with only four returning lettermen, only one of whom had lettered more than once.

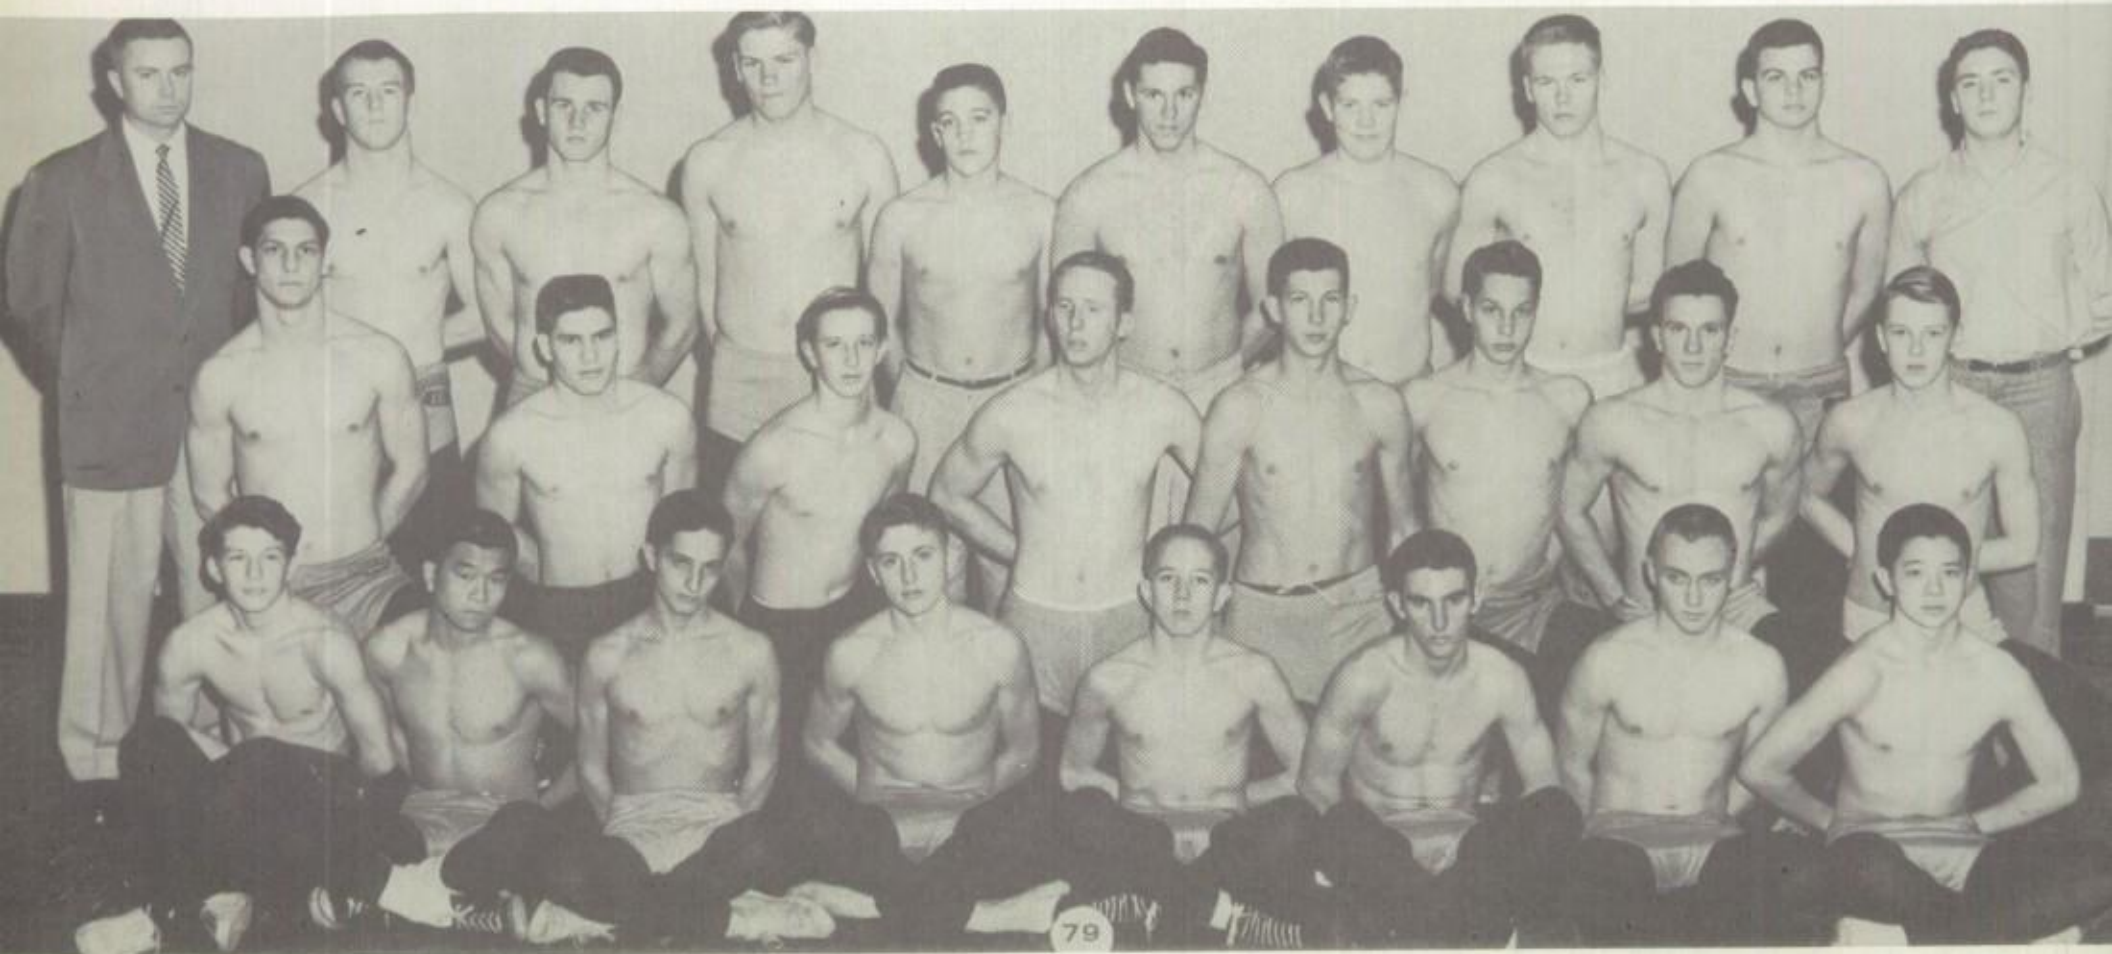

At the state meet, held at Norview, the Commodores Poe Deming succeeded in winning four matches to cop the state title in the 141 pound class and put Maury in seventh place out of seventeen schools. Also Norman Moore scored a major upset when he pinned Hayle Baker, state champion in the 178 pound class, in 39 seconds of the first period and finished third in the finals.

To cook, and clean, and sew.*

Ask any Maury girl her opinion of the above and she will laugh at you, for what might have been applicable to women fifty years ago is not applicable to them today. Today women have invaded practically all masculine fields and have performed exceptionally well in each of them. This is particularly true in the field of athletics.

With the exception of wrestling and football, the Maury athletic program for girls is as inclusive as is that for the boys. Their record of proficiency in sports is an enviable one. Whether it be the simple game of paddle tennis, or the more complicated game of basketball, girls give performances that boys may well be envious of.

The girls' intramural program offers to them the same challenge of competition that games with rival school teams offer the boys. Through this program individuals challenge individuals; classes challenge classes; a fine spirit of sportsmanship and good fellowship is developed. Here, too, as in the boys' athletic program, champions are developed and awards are given.

The slogan of the girls' athletic program might well be: Be an active participant in athletics today that you may be a healthy woman of tomorrow.

Fair Alma Mater

What does one remember most about his high school days? Teachers? Classroom lectures? Oh, no, it is the plus values, the little extras that are treasured long after classrooms and class procedures have become dim memories.

That class cut when spring was in the air and the out-of-doors beckoned invitingly, that "thriller" sneaked into class disguised as literature—remember?

Remember the snooze taken while you were supposedly studying? Remember the boy who for a brief, but happy period was the center of your universe, or that girl whose tantalizing image danced across every printed page?

How about that locker filled to overflowing with all the impedimenta of school life? How about those moments when you indulged in the well-known art of "apple polishing"? Or the equally well-known forbidden "pause-that-refreshes"?

Remember the day you sat outside a classroom door because you would not behave inside? And how about that trip to the office when the teacher's story was quite different from yours?

Precious memories, the something plus, the extras without which schools would be machines and students very dull folks indeed.

Chapter VII

Joiners All

Proud is thy History
And Proud Thy Spirit

Every student at Maury is a joiner, part of a chain that links him and his homelife to the miniature community where he spends six hours a day. These six hours are devoted mainly to work, but an all-important factor of the school community is the extra-curricular program which is offered. The backbone of this program is the Student Cooperative Association which is composed of representatives from the entire school. It is Maury's governing body which deals directly with students, teachers, and urgent problems. It has divided Maury into departments which deal directly with the student.

Another important organization at Maury is the Distributive Education program which operates a job placement bureau for students who wish part time jobs.

Maury has many clubs to offer that complement any personality. For those who have artistic ability there is the Art Club. For those who are musically inclined there is the Maury Band, the Maury Orchestra, or the Fifth Bell Chorus. The Future Teachers of America and the Nurses Club help to prepare pupils for careers in later life. The Commodore and the Maury News provide an outlet for the literary talent of their staff members. The Bible Club lends a spiritual air to the school; and the Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y, Y-Teens, and Key Club help to build better citizens for tomorrow.

For the athletically inclined members Maury offers the Cheerleaders Squad, the Drill Team, and the Monogram Club.

Every student at Maury is offered something that is of interest to him. Through the many organizations that exist, each person has something that is suited to his specific personality and to his needs. Many belong to several clubs; some belong to one or two; but everyone in the school is a member of something. This program is extremely popular because it helps develop the student's character to its fullest degree, and helps him to determine in which direction his interests lie. Because of this Maury students love to be called "Joiners."

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY POSES BEFORE GOING INTO SESSION.

A SMILING COUNCIL PREPARES FOR ACTION.

CHAIRMAN—Pat Vaughan directs Linny Jones in a School Spirit Committee project.

THE S.C.A.

The governing body of Maury is the Student Co-operative Association which is composed of students elected by their classmates to carry out the wishes of the student body. Each day the Council of the S.C.A. meets. This is composed of representatives from junior and senior classes only. However, there is also Student Assembly made up of representatives from each home-room and club. This body meets every other week.

This year the S.C.A. chose as its theme Victory Year, its purpose being to encourage students to support and to participate in all school sponsored activities.

To set an example, the S.C.A. sponsored the Lost and Found Department, the Second Hand Bookstore, the orientation of new students, and the revision of the point system. In addition to these activities, it also put into effect an honor code system.

The S.C.A. was also responsible for redecorating the first floor reception room, for placing new trash cans throughout the building, and for the hanging of new shades in all classrooms.

Next it moved out into the entertainment field and sponsored The Maury Merry Minstrels and two dances, one, a Come as you Please, the other, a Victory Year celebration.

The election of Mr. and Miss Commodore, the election of the Maury representatives to Boys and Girls Week, the election of the two girls to be members of the Azalea Queen's Court — all were part of the S.C.A.'s job.

Staculty Day, when students exchange places with teachers and administration and merriment reigns, was also an S.C.A. activity, as were the school drill team and the decorating of goal posts for home football games.

Morning devotions, led by a different student each day, was also the responsibility of the S.C.A.

A year of many activities, a year of hard work, but one upon which the S.C.A. looks back with pride and forward to those years ahead in which the S.C.A. will be able to serve its school in many new fields.

Sponsor.

In the fall under the sponsorship of Mrs. Doris B. Whitesides, the Maury News began its semi-annual subscription campaign. Before the campaign began, a free copy of the Maury News was distributed to each student. However, it was found that sufficient funds for the publication were not available by the end of the subscription campaign; so no paper was published during the first term.

When the spring term began, the Maury News staff had a new sponsor, Mr. Edgar Jackson. Again a campaign was staged. This one being successful, eight issues of the paper were published.

Each school day during fifth and sixth periods, the staff members worked planning each issue of the publication. Working with the staff were the members of the English 32J class, a group interested in creative writing and journalism, taught by Mr. Jackson.

The Maury News is a member of the Quill and Scroll, and the Columbia Press Association, where it has won a first-place rating for several years.

PRE-SPEECH CONSULTATION

The Maury-Bain Literary Society is one of the oldest clubs in Maury. Under the helpful guidance of the sponsor, Mr. Edward Shapiro, it presents such forensic activities as speaking, debating, poetry and prose reading, spelling, and creative writing. Speakers are invited to add extra interest. In the spring, the Maury-Bain assists with the literary contests. In fact, many of the participants are brought into the club as honorary members.

At the beginning of each term, special invitations are issued to those incoming students with an average of B or better in English. Everyone, however, is eligible to become a member.

At one of the first meetings the Reverend Rowland P. Wagner is invited as a guest speaker. In successive weeks debates are planned on controversial topics such as exam exemptions, segregation, the making of subscribing to the Maury News compulsory, and many others.

The meetings take place on alternating Tuesdays, with a meeting of the officers on the remaining Tuesdays. The purpose of these meetings is to plan the regular ones.

The Fifth Bell Chorus departs from its usual custom of listing the year's achievements and uses this opportunity to pay tribute to its beloved sponsor, Mrs. Sena B. Wood, who is now ill.

Daniel Webster once said: "If we work upon men's immortal minds, if we imbue them with high principles, with the fear of God and love of their fellowmen; we engrave on those tablets something which no time can efface, and which will heighten and brighten to all eternity." These words might well have been written about Mrs. Wood, for they embody the code by which she lives daily.

An accomplished musician, she has made music a joyous experience for hundreds of children. She has discovered latent talents. Daily she has emphasized the great truth that talents must not be selfishly guarded, that they grow through sharing. Because of this her chorus have given generously of its time to local churches and civic organizations, leading all other local choral groups in the number of its performances.

So great is her influence, so challenging her example, so perfectly organized her work, that in her absence, the chorus has carried on in the Wood tradition, under a student director, Charlotte Marshall. Each performance has been a vocal tribute to her whose leadership is of such high quality that those who follow her must perforce do their best.

Not only is Mrs. Wood an inspiration to her students; she is also an inspiration to her fellow workers, for both her life and her character reflect honor upon all in the teaching profession. She is a teacher to whom one may point with pride; she is a teacher, whose influence will never die so long as one student lives who has been under her instruction.

Great friend, great teacher, great lady, Sena B. Wood, we salute you.

Orchestra

There is never a dull moment in room 21, the home of the Maury Band and the Maury Orchestra. In September, the band spent many hours working out drills for home football games, and for the annual Maury-Granby game, at which time the bands of the two schools combined and reviewed all formations used in the previous five years.

November brought around the challenge for participation in All-State Band. Twenty-five band members had the honor of being selected to participate.

In December the band and orchestra presented their annual winter concert in the Maury auditorium. Contrary to usual custom, there was no guest conductor; the concert was given under the baton of its director, Mr. Sidney Berg.

Despite long hours of practicing and drilling, the band members took time out during the year to hold dances and parties. Also they made an addition to their social calendar with a five day trip to New York. Chaperoned by parents and teachers, the band members visited many of the interesting places in the city.

The band ended the year by participating in the District Festival which was held in Norview High School, and by again combining with the orchestra in an annual spring concert.

Key Club

In May 1955 the Key Club held a banquet at the Pine Tree Inn at which seven new members were installed by Mr. Zabawa, president of the Kiwanis Club. In August, Mr. Old, principal of Maury, was issued an invitation by the Board of Directors to become the official sponsor. He accepted the invitation, and initiated a year of activity.

On September 17, the Key Club gave a "Back to School Dance" featuring Kermit Clark and his band. November found them distributing the Maury Key Club Student Directories. These contained the names, addresses, phone numbers, homeroom numbers and classification of all the students at Maury.

The Key Club in conjunction with the F. T. A. sponsored a College Day in which many colleges were represented. It also helped sponsor Career Day. This was followed by the forming of a Chess Club. In addition, the club sponsored a safe-driving campaign at Maury and assisted in the Christmas Basket Drive.

The club members were hosts to the Granby and Catholic High Key Clubs at which time Mr. Gayber spoke on present conditions in Israel. Entertainment for the evening was furnished by Bill Fulford, Bonnie Spark, and Patricia Hawes.

Another social highlight was the Valentine's Dance, an annual event, which Granby and Maury Key Club members jointly sponsor. This year the dance was held at Maury with Kermit Clark and his band furnishing the music.

The club points with pride to a year filled with achievement; a year that offered in addition to its projects, regular vocational guidance conferences both for members and interested students.

HI-Y

The Johnson Chapter of the Maury Hi-Y has enjoyed many activities during the school term 1955-56. Activities began in June with a beach party given by the chapter. This party, whose admission price included food, drinks, and dancing, was open to the entire student body.

In September a membership drive was conducted which added fifteen new members to the club roster. At the induction of these new members, Dr. Riddick, pastor of the Park Place Methodist Church, was guest speaker.

A combination hayride and beach party was given in honor of the new members early in October. This party held at the cabin of Bill Lee, at Lynnhaven, was attended by fifteen couples. From all reports it was a gala affair.

November began with a supper meeting at Burroughs at which time Juvenile Delinquency was the topic of the evening.

December found the members directing the delivery of Christmas baskets to the needy. It also found them busily acquiring new members. These were inducted in January at the Central Baptist Church.

A party for the orphans at Saint Mary's Infant Home closed the busy year.

The West Chapter Hi-Y is one of the oldest clubs in the school. For years its members have been pledging to live up to the Hi-Y purpose: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, the school, and the community high standards of Christian character." The Hi-Y platform is: "Clean Speech, Clean Sportsmanship, Clean Scholarship, and Clean Living."

The Hi-Y is a nation-wide organization sponsored by the YMCA. Its many projects during the year are to raise money for YMCA fund drives as well as for itself. Several non-profit projects are also undertaken.

The club may lead off the year with a dance or other social activities. It also has beach parties or splash parties for club members. At Thanksgiving and at Christmas, the members donate baskets of food and clothing to underprivileged families, often cooperating with the Johnston Hi-Y and the Garnett Tri-Hi-Y.

This year in April, the club sent two delegates to the Model General Assembly in Richmond. The club delegates were Eddie Capps and John Schear. There Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y delegates from all over Virginia participated for three days in a mock legislature.

By far the biggest project was the well-known Maury Regatta, in May. 1956 marks the twenty-fourth consecutive year of its running. It was started by a Maury football coach, and was originally restricted to motor boat racing. Gradually sailboats entered the regatta, and now it is restricted to sailing craft. An entrant must be under twenty-one to sail in this race and youthful skippers come from localities over the whole Eastern Seaboard. The profits made from advertisements in the Regatta booklet, which includes sailing information, goes toward a $100 scholarship for a deserving Maury senior.

One of the most active clubs at Maury, the Y-Teens, have observed a successful year filled with many activities. Sponsored by Mrs. India Friend, the club meets every other Tuesday after school in room 106.

One of the first club projects of the year was that of cleaning and re-arranging the trophy cases in the front hall. Another was making layettes for a local organization. Still another was making scrap books which were sent overseas.

To acquaint members with the over-all Y-Teen program, delegates were sent to the annual Virginia Y-Teen conference in Roanoke; and to the World Fellowship services at the National Cathedral in Washington, D. C.

Camp weekends, dances and parties provided fun and fellowship for club members, as did the annual Gay Nineties basketball game with Granby.

Maury's chapter of the Tri-Hi-Y is called the Garnett Tri-Hi-Y in honor of the club's sponsor, Mrs. Mildred Garnett. The club's purpose is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character. Each Thursday night this pledge is repeated as an opening for the club meeting.

Officers elected at the close of the school year are inducted in June. New members are received in the fall. Membership originally restricted to thirty-five, has increased so that forming another club has become necessary.

In cooperation with the Hi-Y's, the Tri-Hi-Y's help needy families and contribute to the Y.M.C.A. World Service Fund. They also participate in the Model General Assembly at which members govern Virginia for a few days. Dances and sports are also enjoyed.

The club platform which is clean speech, clean scholarship, clean sportsmanship, and clean living, is stressed in all meetings. Several times a year noted speakers address Maury clubs on some phase of this platform, which aids the members in a better understanding of the meaning of the club and shows them the path to Christian discipleship.

STUDENTS WELCOME A STUDENT TEACHER.

The Cherry Nottingham Chapter of the Future Teachers of America has forty-one members. The club purpose is to introduce the teaching profession to young people.

This year the members participated in many projects. Among these were a tea honoring new members and Miss Nottingham, for whom the club is named; a group discussion which was held at Madison Elementary School, and a field trip to Oscar Smith High School where teaching and methods were observed.

The club, together with the Key Club formed the Student Advisory Board, created for the purpose of helping students solve problems. Again with the Key Club, the Future Teachers helped to sponsor College Day. This was arranged so that students could attend two college sessions. Club members composed committees for room assignments, ushers, programs, and registration.

Career Day, this year, a separate project, found the Future Teachers engaged in making contacts with representatives of many industries and professions and plans by which these people could best present the opportunities in their individual fields. Their efforts paid dividends, for Career Day was declared a success both by the representatives and by the participating students.

Club members are important, but they can do nothing without responsible leadership. This, the club had in its sponsor, Mrs. Joyce Ellis, and it wishes to extend to her its grateful appreciation for her effort in their behalf.

Future Nurses Club

Since its organization at the beginning of the fall term in 1952, The Future Nurses Club has grown from a small club with only a few girls to an active and popular club in Maury, winning many students to a career of nursing and medicine.

Among the many purposes of this organization are those of gaining an adequate understanding of the principles of nursing and the continuation of the professional growth of this career. However, above all, its main goal is the promotion of a love for nursing and for its ideals of service.

Numerous projects are carefully planned throughout the year in order to give the club members an insight into the various fields of nursing. The major project of the club this year was that which was conducted in connection with the staff of the Norfolk General Hospital. Each week, a group of twenty-five to thirty members met at the hospital to learn the highlights of practical nursing. When the requirement of ten hours of instruction had been met, those girls who had attended all of the lesson sessions, went into the hospital to work as hospital aids. Each girl, upon her graduation from the course, was given a Future Nurses pin and was allowed to acquire a uniform for her interest.

However, instruction did not end with this graduation. It will continue, so that these girls may grow more skillful in this profession and, therefore, become more helpful. Such a plan of continuous instruction gives the students an actual and realistic idea of bedside nursing, and in this manner each girl is given the chance to determine whether or not she is fitted for a career in the field of nursing or the field of medicine.

Bible Club

CLUB OFFICERS AND SPONSOR—W. Bradford, Vice-President; S. Simmerson, President; S. Bass, Secretary-Treasurer and Mr. R. Costen.

The Maury Bible Club, sponsored by Mr. Costen, meets every Tuesday morning at eight thirty. Singing begins the meeting, followed by Bible quizzes and a talk either by a club member or a guest speaker.

The club's aim is to acquaint students with the Bible and to show them the necessity for spiritual growth.

Realizing that in youth spiritual patterns are formed, the club has chosen as its key verse I Timothy 4:12: "Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity."

MEMBERS—P. Brown, G. Dawson, J. Williams, B. Alphin, C. Browning, H. Nash, W. Bradford, J. Crawford, E. Olson, J. Leseueur, E. Consolvo, S. Simerson, P. McKown, G. White, Mr. Costen.

Playmakers

The Maury Playmakers is the newly organized dramatic club for those persons interested in the various phases of theatrical life.

Students may gain experience not only in acting but also in stage direction, producing, make-up, scenery, and also the business end of the club.

The club's main project at the moment is a skit for the Minstrels. A one act play is also in the planning. Publicity to establish the Playmakers as a permanent and important part of Maury life is another project being worked on currently.

Bob, it's been fun being in class with you! Good luck and best wishes! C.N.U. Alan

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB

The scenes pictured in these pages show D. E. work-training students learning techniques which are used in their club and on their jobs. In one picture, Marie Higgins, our club president, is opening a club meeting to discuss future D. E. plans. Also shown is our coordinator, Mr. Costen, explaining the use of the cash register and the meaning of the DECA emblem to our club members.

Our D. E. club has successfully completed five major projects and one minor project which consisted of selling Maury ribbons, ball point pens, combs, and Christmas cards and presenting a Thanksgiving and a Christmas basket to needy families.

Twenty-four D. E. students are working in variety, department, shoe, jewelry, grocery, and wholesale establishments and other distributive jobs in Norfolk. In the past five months, September through January, these students earned $8,692.47, which is indicative of the training received in this program.

The DECA emblem, which is so important to each D. E. student and the completed package represents a job well done.

INTERESTING ADDITIONS TO OUR FACULTY—H. J. Cassingham, N. K. Fantone, J. F. Farrell, and A. Teich.

NEW TEACHERS

The February term found Maury's faculty increased by five new teachers, whose subjects range from gym to physics.

In room 318, Mr. Howard J. Cassingham teaches the 8L and 8H classes. He hails from Geneseo, Kansas, where he attended high school. After receiving his B.A. from Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kansas, Mr. Cassingham served five years in the Air Force during which time he traveled for two years in Europe, Africa and South America. When time can be taken from his teaching, Mr. Cassingham enjoys fishing.

"I would like to see an increased interest in the Maury intramural program." So says Mr. Joseph H. Deaton, new intramural director. Greensboro, North Carolina is Mr. Deaton's home town, and he received his B.A. from Elon College. Strange as it seems, Mr. Deaton studied languages in summer school at the University of North Carolina Women's College. His other experiences include teaching at several schools in North Carolina and two years in the Navy. In his spare time he enjoys golf, hunting, and fishing.

Mr. Norman K. Fantone is a graduate of Maury and a resident of Norfolk. He received his B.S. degree from the University of Virginia and in the past he has held positions as a professional singer, artist, and actor. His hobbies are writing and woodworking.

Room 205 also changed instructors at mid-term. Mr. James F. Farrell teaches science to the eighth grade and physics to the high seniors. Although the difference in the levels is hard on the teacher, the pupils seem disposed to learn. Mr. Farrell attended Greenbrier Military Academy in Lewisburg, West Virginia, and received his B.A. in Religious Philosophy from the University of Virginia. He served in the Army for two years in the Transportation corps, and spent some time in Korea. Despite his varied classes, Mr. Farrell is helping the Dramatics Club, and has been asked to sponsor the F.T.A.

Mr. Albert Teich can be found in 208 teaching eighth and ninth grade social studies. He is from Norfolk, but attended high school in Springfield, Ohio. He received his B.A. from the University of Virginia, where he studied law for two years. He served twenty-one months in the Air Force. Outside of school he enjoys reading.

Leading Us On
When Duty Calls

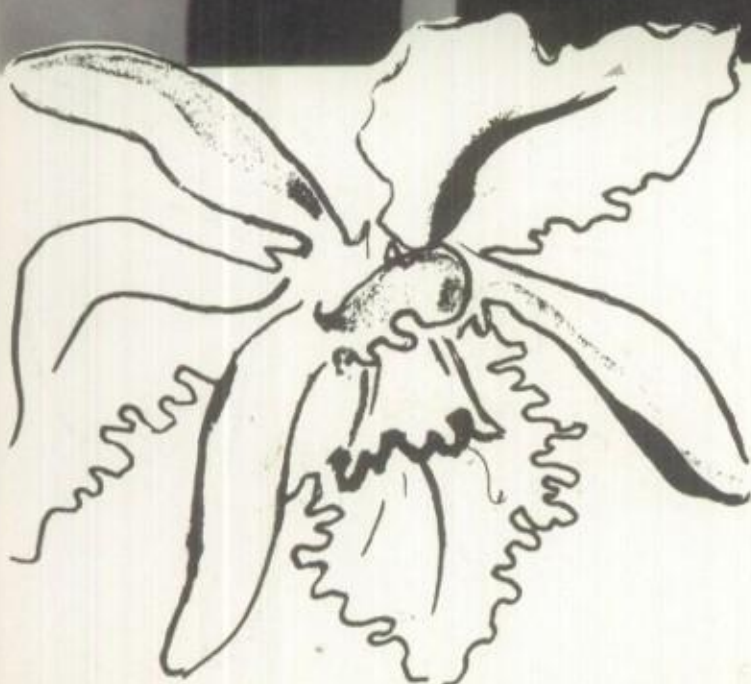

There are loving cups for dancers; there are Oscars for movie stars. There are medals for soldiers; there are extra stars for generals. There is public acclaim for heroes. But what is there for those unsung heroes, school teachers and school office personnel? Work and more work!

There are lessons to be taught and papers to be corrected. There are absentee pupils to be checked and visits to be made to homes. There are planning sheets and schedule changes; there are permanent records and transcripts. There are pay-rolls to be drawn up; there are thousands of records to be catalogued and filed. From classroom to office, in never-ending line, these go on daily. In addition there are committee meetings, teachers meetings, and extra-curricular activities.

So orchids to these folks, a very special flower for very special people; special by virtue of the extra mile, the intangible something beyond the line of duty; for superb performance under most trying conditions.

MISS PAULINE TEBAULT

School conjures visions of teachers, lessons and homework to the average mind; too few are aware that behind these is an office, the management of which can make or mar the mechanism of the entire school. How fortunate Maury is to have Miss Tebault directing the main office activities. Her office is an efficient, smoothly running mechanism—a miniature world, from which avenues reach out to every phase of school life. Courteous, alert, efficient, she is an ideal secretary; a model for those, who serve as her assistants; her life a pattern of devotion to her job and service to her fellowmen. Orchids to you, Miss Tebault.

Bob, it was nice hearing your talk in my class!
 Best of

 Helen Taliaferro

MRS. HELEN TALIAFERRO

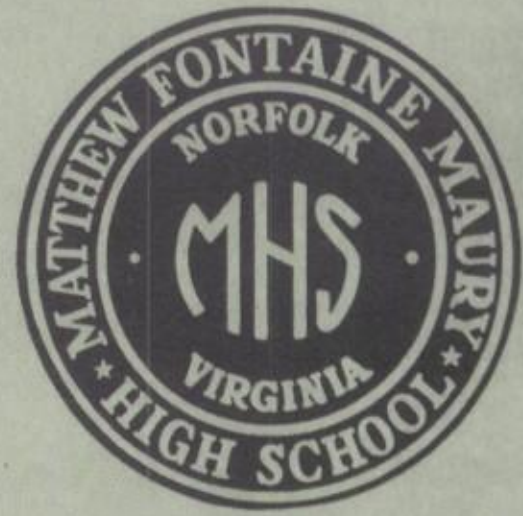

When one hears the words Merry Maury Minstrels, he thinks of Mrs. Taliaferro who labors tirelessly that each performance may be more successful than the last. Through the chaos of try-outs, callbacks, final casting, costuming, scenery designing, and publicity stunts, she moves calmly and efficiently, unmoved by that which could easily unnerve a lesser person. Under her guidance chaos becomes order; the curtain rises on a finished performance and money pours into the school treasury!

Orchids to you, Mrs. Taliaferro.

The Heights at Last

Thy Name We'll Glorify
And Ever Love Thee
Dear Alma Mater Great and True

Looking Back

1956! Ah, what magic in the sound! How long it seemed as we looked ahead, and yet, as we look back, how short a time it has been since we entered as sophomores into an unknown field of higher learning. There were so many things we planned to do and there has been so little time in which to do them. It is with a feeling of regret mingled with joy that we write the final pages of our high school career.

It was the intention of the five hundred and forty students who three years ago started this voyage together, to leave some admirable mark of remembrance in every club, class, and activity of Maury High School. This we have been successful in accomplishing. The four hundred and forty who now bid farewell to their beloved Alma Mater have had capable representatives in each form of athletics and music, in clubs, classrooms, and student organizations. Truly Maury has felt the power of our influence. But oh, how much more we have felt the influence of Maury's power! We shall remember with gratitude the faculty of this school and shall strive to magnify their virtues in our lives.

We go forth now to continue our studies, to take our place in the business world, to seek careers along individual lines, or to become homemakers, but in any case we shall become better citizens because of the time spent here. To whatever heights we may climb, we shall always look back with affection upon our high school days as the happiest and the best of our lives. Our sincere hope is that the goal we had as sophomores "to make Maury a better place because we have been here," has been accomplished.

SMILING WINNERS—Mr. Fantone, J. Thomas, S. Beery, and C. Marshall, literary contestants.

And Suddenly

JUNIOR PROM ROYALTY—JoAnn Gilliam, Queen and Bruce Cooke, King.

A long, hard winter, icy streets, snow, barren trees—then suddenly it is spring. The earth is radiantly alive; trees flaunt new green petticoats; flowers bloom in fields and gardens; birds sing joyously. Warm sunny days invite the age old practice of truancy; stuffy classrooms provoke inattention and sleep. Calendars become clocks upon which students reduce the days left in the term to seconds. Winter garments are shed and gay colors bloom in feminine dresses and masculine shirts. Ties are discarded. Comfort rules as fashion arbiter.

New sounds fill the air. The swish of baseball bats, the plop of tennis balls against rackets, the yell of fore from practicing golfers, the whir of lawnmowers, the cheerful talk of maintenance crews as they give the building its annual face lifting—all form a pleasant orchestral background.

French, physics, geometry, English, algebra—all lessons are temporarily forgotten in plans for the long spring vacation, where and how to spend it; whom to ask to the spring proms; who will be invited to the various college finals. Grades drop; tardiness to school and to classes increases; a strange illness reaches epidemic proportions—Spring Fever.

The Sports

The spring sports program consisted of four major varsity sports of track, baseball, tennis and golf.

The track team, coached by Vic Marler, headlined such outstanding performers as miler, Jerry Quandt, high jumper and half-miler, Henry Morgan, and other performers Burton Delong, Ray Clyburn, Michel Ashe, and Poe Deming. The harriers competed well in such events as the Virginian Pilot Relays and the Tidewater District Meet, held at Williamsburg.

Baseball prospects, for the first time in many years, were less than rosy; the main problem was on the mound. The relief to the problem came mostly in Granby's transfer Joe MacLawhorn, who came through to win for the Commodores, even against the most pressing odds. Kirkie Harrison, Bobby Davis, Clinton Foster, and Leslie Miller also showed up well for the Commodores who got off to a so-so start in the Eastern District.

In addition to the two major spring sports there were two more, golf, coached by Letcher Hill and tennis, coached by Bill Brittingham. The big story here was in tennis, where the Commodores led off to a hot start for what looked like another championship, behind Charles Caddell, Bill Manning, and Nishan Avedikian. The golf scene was dominated by Armand Levy, Ronald Berg, and Steve Seigal who were victorious in better than half of their matches.

THE HEIGHTS AT LAST!

Four long years and now graduation. Our goal is reached. The symbols, a cap, a gown, and a diploma represent preparation for the beginning of a new life. We leave the platform as seniors; we begin the new life as freshmen. Broad, inviting highways lie ahead, highways that may be filled with success; highways that may be filled with danger. Are we prepared to travel? How shall we journey? What impressions shall we leave upon the roads and the people with whom we travel? What will our influence be?

Farewell to the old life; hail to the new. May it bring to us the joys of success well-earned, the happiness of lasting friendships, the consciousness of having a place in the world and of filling it worthily.
